Hi Kelly, Tom and Rosemary:

Here is the latest version of the BA. We had to change our range of USACE data used in this version for 2014-2018 instead of including 2019, because we learned the structure of their database changed during 2019. So this version, while almost complete, still has some formatting issues to fix, and adjustment needed on some of the USACE numbers.

I have attached a clean version of the document without track changes. While proofreading, I made changes that may make it difficult to follow in the track changed version, such as moving subsections, paragraphs or sentences around. When reading the document from beginning to end there were flow issues, so I tried to make it more readable. I have also tried to rewrite a few sentences here and there to simplify, without losing the intention. Hopefully I was successful.

I'll send another email with the version with track changes since the document is fairly large now. Any comments you can provide by the end of the month would be appreciated.

Thank you for your willingness to review.

Mary
